

Gynocrats Announces Availability of the iHusband:-

AT LAST a Docile, Robotic Husband with NO PROTRUDING PARTS

Fri 12th July, Auckland — the iHusband:-— Today at the Jennifer Margaret Shifley Memorial Centre, Gynocrats announced the planned release of the iHusband:-, enabling owners of traditional Husbands to immediately upgrade to the latest release. “This Husband will need no looking after”, said Wendyl Kedgely, Chief Husband Tester at Gynocrats.

Positive Wife Impact

Many customers have already benefited from deploying the iHusband:-. Domenica Tofu, well-known spaghetti sculptor, recently committed to deploying the iHusband to all menial tasks around the house, and also enabled Domenica to spend 20 minutes a day less time in bed, so she can concentrate on her art.

“Domenica’s sculptures are so much crisper and meaningful,” said Psycho Phant, Domenica Tofu’s Chief Spaghetti Moulder, “since we re-cycled the original husband to the pet-food factory.”

The iHusband:- Availability

The iHusband will be available at a store near you in two versions:- ‘Mouth Wired Shut’ and ‘Utters Complimentary Banalities’. Both versions Guaranteed not to answer back, or say “a bit too close to that cement truck ahead”.

Founded in 2015, Gynocrats (NZX code “bilker”) is the worldwide leader in self-publicity. The company offers a wide range of unnecessary products and services designed to make them lots of money. Special products include “The Tightest Underpants in the World” and a collapsible version of “The Iron Maiden”, a device preventing conventional husbands talking, drinking, adulterating or splashing on the bathroom carpet, at parties.
